FLOOD NEAR THE HIGHEST

Cincinnati Is Now Bounded by Water on Three Sides.

THE RIVER IS STILL RISING

But Weather Bureau Says the Limit Will Be Reached Today---Other Towns Submerged.

Cincinnati April 23—At 6 o'clock to night the river gauge showed 57 feet and a rise at the rate of 1 foot in [illegible] hours. The river is now [illegible] feet above the danger line and within 1 foot of the limit expected during this flood.

The weather bureau officials say that the river will be nine stories high here some time tomorrow and that it will not exceed 5 feet or eight feet above what is known as the danger line.

The water reached the first story of tenement houses along the river front yesterday afternoon and has risen thirty feet in the last twenty-four hours. The business portion is now fifty feet. The street railway tracks are all under water. Many houses along the river front in Japan and Sausage Row and Bank streets are thirteen feet deep from the first floors and will likely be over thirty feet deep from the first floors. Many families are being rescued from the upper stories. The people are now moving from the first floors yesterday and from the second floors today. The coal and lumber yards along the river as well as the warehouses in the lower part of the city are submerged but will suffer comparatively little loss because of the warning from the weather bureau.

Judging from the rafts of logs and other drift in the river many persons along the tributaries of the Ohio must have felt the weather bureau reports and were surprised.

Almost an Island.

With the Ohio river on the south the Little Miami east of the city and the raging Mill creek on the west, Cincinnati is bounded by water on three sides and by hills on the north. From these hills a sea of water is in sight. The big Miami today washed away much of the Cincinnati Lawrenceburg and Aurora electric railway track.

Both passenger and freight traffic in and all steam railroads are arriving and departing as usual although most of them are using suburban tracks. In the flooded districts in the southeastern and western parts of the city today the trimmers of the street electric lights made their rounds in boats instead of wagons and had no trouble in reaching the lamps.

The Cincinnati baseball park located in the Mill creek valley on the west side is under water to-night. The Reds opened the season by postponing seven games out of the first eight consecutive dates. They will play in Chicago Friday and be away for ten days by which time their grounds will be ready. The races at Newport and Latonia are difficulties but they will continue tomorrow and the crisis will be past before Thursday.

On the Kentucky Side

At some places the conditions are alike on the Kentucky side notably around Newport Bellevue and Dayton Ky. These suburbs have arranged for light and water [illegible] suffering will be the flood rises its limit tomorrow. Office Newport [illegible] Newport Aurora [illegible] told to leave today. Calls Mary Lincoln Peck [illegible] prepared to move their stations on the strength of the reported rise up the river. There is much distress at Ironton on account of the scarcity of coal and the cutting off of the natural gas supply. School has ceased and buildings have been opened to flood sufferers.

At Portsmouth tonight the Ohio river is still rising slowly and lacks fifteen inches to reach the great flood mark of three years ago. It is expected to become stationary before morning. There was bright sunshine today taking off the snow.

At Parkersburg W. Va. the river gauged 43.6 feet tonight and was rising less than an inch per hour. Besides loss in the manufacturing and the wholesale districts at Parkersburg many laborers are idle and about 1,000 people have been rendered homeless.

At Charleston W. Va. 2,000 people were rendered homeless and the loss of timber in Elk Poca Cathey and Coal River has been very great.

At Huntington W. Va. the gauge this evening was 45.4 and the river was still rising. Adjacent towns were submerged the water in many instances being in second stories. Over 1,000 persons are homeless in the district around Huntington and many are destitute. In Harvey near Central City there are not half a dozen inhabited houses and it is expected that these will be vacated. All the towns in the valley that are lighted by natural gas are in darkness and without fuel as the natural gas main burst near Gallup Ky.

At Marietta O. about 50 families are homeless. The Ohio became stationary there at 1 a. m. and afterward fell slightly. Its rise tonight is due to a flood in the Muskingum. At Fort Pleasant W. Va. the water is all over the lower part of the city, over 200 families being driven from their homes. The courthouse is full of colored people fed by the city. The large brick and tile works have been greatly damaged. At Ripley O. the flood has reached Main street. Boats are used at the Ripley bank on Second street and at Atwood's hall on Third street at the second stories. One hundred families have been driven out by the flood.

DISTRESS REPORTED IN TOWNS ABOVE CINCINNATI

Cincinnati April 23—While the Ohio river is reported tonight as falling from Pittsburg to the mouth of the Kanawha almost 300 miles there is still much distress from that point to Cincinnati about 200 miles. The weather bureau still predicts that the limit will be reached tomorrow and that there will still be no rise below the city. While alarming reports come from Portsmouth Huntington Catlettsburg and intermediate points tonight the weather bureau says the outlook is really encouraging and the beginning of the end will reach Cincinnati 48 hours when the stage will not exceed 58 feet. The Big Sandy and other Ohio tributaries are falling as well as the headwaters.

The most encouraging news today came from Point Pleasant where the river became stationary and later rose so slowly that it is falling as far down as Marietta and Parkersburg. In some of the smaller places bells were rung cannon fired and jollification meetings held when the stationary stage was reached. Preparations are being made for demonstrations of rejoicing throughout the Pomeroy Bend tomorrow. Pomeroy Middleport and other places in that district have been badly inundated and hundreds of families driven from their homes. The railroad [illegible] water and the offices moved to higher ground. Since the crest has passed there is great alarm at Ashland Ironton Huntington Portsmouth and other lower points. Here the crest of the flood is now passing and other false reports have been circulated about another rise. One of these reports was that there had been a loudburst up the Big Sandy seriously affecting Catlettsburg. The flood has caused the natural gas pipe lines supplying this place to burst and the people were left without light or fuel there. The large rolling mills and factories at this place were compelled to shut down for the same reason. From that point to Cincinnati the rise fluctuates from one tenth of an inch in some hours to almost three tenths in other hours and when it increased tonight there was renewed alarm at Ironton and Portsmouth and points opposite them. The weather bureau here however reports tonight that a second rise is not threatened and that the flood continues to pass down the Ohio valley more rapidly.

REPORTED TRANSFER OF LAND GRANT PROPERTY

Special to the Gazette.

Denver April 23—It is said that a [illegible] proposed transfer by the Maxwell Land Grant company releases all of its land in Colorado amounting to 250,000 acres to the C. R. & I. Co. The remuneration received by the land company is about $1,000,000.

There are 70,000 acres of coal land in the tract. The southern boundary of the tract extends for 40 miles along the Atchison in Colorado and New Mexico besides the immense coal fields the land is covered with the finest of timber and the mountains are said to contain much mineral ore.

The Fuel and Iron company will immediately begin the construction of a railroad 75 miles long which will penetrate the resources of this vast acreage and which will also furnish an outlet for the Stone Wall country. Lines will start from the Starkville mines. The Land Grant company also transferred to the Iron company or 4,000,000 railroad ties to be furnished to the C. and S. railway and 1,500,000 ties to be furnished to the Santa Fe.

This deal was discussed about ten years ago but owing to the financial condition of affairs at that time it fell through. There are about 2,000 squatters on the land all of whom signed an agreement to recognize the Land Grant company as the owners of the land. These settlers will be allowed to remain where they are.

MISSOURI PACIFIC PLANS

New York April 23. The Mail and Express says:

It was admitted today by persons close to the Missouri Pacific that the amount of the new stock used in the purchase of Denver and Rio Grande will not exceed $6,000,000. The remaining of the $50,000,000 to be authorized will be issued from time to time as the company finds it advantageous to secure new properties. The company is making a conspicuous point of its financial methods to be employed in the general scheme of creating a new Missouri Pacific system. The chief feature of this policy is the adoption of a plan to finance the acquisition of properties and interests in other companies with capital stock instead of by the creation of new indebtedness and fixed interest bearing bonds.

THE BRITISH LOAN

London April 23.—Applications for the new war loan continue to pour into the Bank of England. The subscribers today though numerous were mostly small investors. It is estimated that the loan was subscribed for six or seven times over and it is expected the list will be closed tomorrow as it is not desired to lock up too much money.

THE CUBAN COMMISSION

Governor General Wood Will Introduce Members to President.

HE COMMENTS ON SITUATION

Reports of Strained Relations He Declares Are Without the Slightest Foundation in Fact.

New York April 23.—General Leonard A. Wood governor general of Cuba with Mrs. Wood and his aide left secretly for Washington tonight by the Ward line steamer Mexico Castle.

General Wood who expects to return to Havana [illegible] has made the journey at his own expense and [illegible] of introducing to President Roosevelt before the latter leaves Washington for the Pacific coast the five members of the Cuban constitutional convention.

As soon as the steamship was made fast to the pier General Wood left with his secretary were referred to the tugboat Reside and arrived in Jersey City in time to catch the 9:51 a.m. train for Washington.

The members of the [illegible] with General Wood represent all the different groups of Cubans composing the constitutional convention. They have come to the United States for the purpose of conferring with the president on matters which the convention does not thoroughly understand and when they return and make their report I am convinced there will be a thorough understanding on all sides.

The constitutional convention has never voted on or rejected the Platt amendment. That I can state positively notwithstanding the reports to the contrary which have been sent to the United States from Havana. Things have been embellished here which had not the slightest foundation in fact which described strained relations between the Cuban people and the United States and those of the Cuban people. Everything has been harmonious as I went to Cuba and the convention now in session is a thoroughly representative one.

[illegible] the Platt amendment was passed by congress the Cubans knew the desire of this government on the issues which the amendment contains because they were established for them through the executive intervention and the establishment of naval stations are two things which they do not properly comprehend and I think that when they are fully explained in Washington the only indication of a difference of opinion will have been removed.

There are really but two great questions yet to be settled. One is the relation of Cuba and the other is the passage of the constitution. One is secondary and the other little [illegible] the bill [illegible] properly from the Cuban point of view. As soon as the constitution can be completed it will be sent over to the representatives of the Cuban people.

Today all the government of Cuba island are practically in the hands of the Cubans who have been instructed as to how things can be managed and [illegible] improprieties. All which will have to do will be to take a receipt for the [illegible] required of congress we have accounted for every dollar expended in the improvement of Cuba since the military forces have been in charge of the island and we hold the receipts for these expenditures. There has never such an accurate accounting dollar for dollar and it has been completed with.

There will be some trouble in the postoffice at first but the Rathbone Neely cases have been thoroughly worked up and the men will be brought to trial in May. The bonds of these men have been forfeited and will have to be paid. There has been an agent of the surety company in Havana lately and after looking over the ground he will report back that the bond must be settled.

While I have said that everything has been harmonious since I have been in charge of Cuban affairs, I must forever explain that it was impossible for me to please every one down there. Not a few of the ambitious and disappointed speculators. Also I found it necessary to close the mails to La Discussion on account of a caricature which was likely to create trouble. Only one copy of the paper came to this country and the editor of the paper was arrested. The paper was not seized as stated in the dispatches already sent in New York regarding the situation. I have received [illegible] in Washington [illegible] Ohio before going to Europe.

[illegible] Minister Loomis [illegible] him [illegible] withdrawal of the [illegible] of the state department. On the contrary it is said the president has made it clear that at every point in his negotiations with the Venezuelan government he has fulfilled and accurately followed the instructions laid down by the state department which is constitutionally responsible for everything that has occurred as a result of the latter's actions. The Venezuelan government [illegible] manifestations of hostility against this country [illegible] the resentful feelings found no expression outside of private and unofficial letters. There is no intimation that any official attitude has been taken to the interview attributed to Mr. Loomis and it is understood that the Venezuelan [illegible] to the press with the denials given by the president.

This project was suggested to [illegible] the peace of China and Russia [illegible] the guarantee to secure [illegible] Manchuria.

CUBAN COMMISSIONERS EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON

Jacksonville Fla. April 23.—The Cuban constitutional convention commission which arrived here last night left today for Washington. General Rafael Portuondo one of the commissioners defined Cuba's position as follows:

Nine tenths of the Cuban people desire absolute independence. It is their wish that military occupation by the United States come to an end at once.

It may be said that a small element of Spaniards from a purely commercial motive favor annexation but the wish for independence is felt by many Cubans and Spaniards alike. These Spaniards who favor annexation are not impelled by any love for the United States. They hate Americans but they seem to wish some sort of guaranty as to their property and business interests.

Peace with the Americans without independence of Cuba is impossible. I mean moral peace.

I do not mean to say that in the event independence is not granted war or revolution would follow but there would be no sympathy no friendliness between the peoples.

ALABAMA WILL REVISE THE STATE CONSTITUTION

Montgomery Ala. April 23.—The people of Alabama voted today on the proposition to call a convention to assemble in this city Jan. 21 to 1902 a new state constitution. An exceedingly light vote was polled throughout the state but the returns indicate that perhaps five sixths of the counties have voted in favor of a convention.

The principal changes which the convention has in view is in the suffrage, the courts, the [illegible] and the abolishment of much local legislation. There has been apathy in every county during the campaign. The Democratic state committee made a brief campaign and speakers were sent out but nowhere were the people greatly interested. There was no organization against the issue and there was a disinclination to go to the polls.

At today's election [illegible] delegates from the state at large were elected and 100 from the counties each county being allowed as many delegates as it has members in the house of representatives. There will in no event be more than four or five Republicans or Populists in the convention.

At midnight it appears that the constitutional convention movement was carried by 30,000 majority. In several counties where the negro vote predominated the negroes aligned themselves with the Populists and defeated the Democratic nominees for delegates. The city of Mobile went against the convention but it is probable that the Democratic candidates have been elected.

CALLAHAN IS ON TRIAL FOR CUDAHY KIDNAPING

Omaha April 23.—James Callahan the alleged abductor of Edward Cudahy jr. son of the packer was today brought before Judge Baker in the criminal branch of the district court for trial on the charge of robbery of $25,000 which is the amount of ransom paid by Mr. Cudahy for the return of his boy. The kidnaping occurred December 18 last and Callahan was arrested two months later as a suspect. He was later identified by several persons who had had dealings with the supposed abductors prior to the night the young man was forcibly carried away and one of the men who had negotiated the lease of the house in which young Cudahy was held a prisoner. Young Cudahy has also identified Callahan as one of the members of the trio who guarded him for thirty hours in a house on Melrose hill to which he was carried on the eventful night.

This morning's session of the court was occupied in trying to secure a jury for which a special venire of 150 has been called but up to noon those examined had been rejected for cause and other reasons.

It is expected that nearly one hundred witnesses will testify in the case. After examining thirty talesmen twelve men were secured who were acceptable to both sides and tomorrow the prosecution begins offering its testimony. The jury is composed mostly of professional men there being but two members from outside Omaha.

MINISTER LOOMIS HAS MOST COMPLETE SUPPORT

Washington April 23.—Francis B. Loomis United States minister to Venezuela called on Secretary Hay at the state department today. Mr. Loomis elaborated the statements contained in his reports as to his relations with the Venezuelan government and the political condition of the country. The general tenor of his statement was that there has been no appreciable change in Venezuela since his last interview with President Castro when the wishes of the United States government respecting the issues between the two countries were set out. Regarding the future the state department is willing to allow him to exercise his discretion—he may return to Caracas or may be provided for elsewhere in the diplomatic service. The minister is in ill health and Mrs. Loomis also is far from robust and they will go to Europe to recuperate at Carlsbad. During his absence he will have ample opportunity to make his plans. Meanwhile the United States legation at Caracas will remain in charge of Mr. Russell the secretary of the legation.

The minister declined to discuss his interview with Secretary Hay with the newspaper reporters and he also said he had nothing to add to what he had

AMERICANS ARE WANTED

Chinese Ask Their Retention Until General Withdrawal of Troops.

GERMANS HAVE A GRIEVANCE

General Chaffee Has Said That Americans Will Continue to Guard the Gate of the Forbidden City.

Tokio April 23.—Many prominent Chinese have been made to Mr. Rockhill and General Chaffee by Chinese of all degrees for the retention of China of the American troops until the general withdrawal of the troops of the powers. Many of the officers who are leaving this country think that the withdrawal of the American troops will make the other foreign troops leave.

There are also people who have no desire to see any of the soldiers go but fear the outbreak and an uprising against foreigners.

The soldiers who return do so with all the honors of war.

Field Marshal von Waldersee has made an application that the gate of the forbidden city be guarded by German troops after the departure of the American. General Chaffee has replied that African soldiers will continue to hold the gate. Attempts of the Germans are in flagrant saving this impugns their honesty and that if the United States desires to do her share of protecting the city she should have her own troops for that purpose. If that is refused a few men belonging to the legation guards should control the gate which will be within the American quarters can not be allowed. If General Chaffee persists in this course diplomatic representations will be made in the matter.

The question of the foreign powers meeting jointly likely to lose at present show a disposition to reconsider this which many think to be extremely reasonable.

LIU HAS RETIRED

Berlin April 23.—The German warship has received the following addressed from Chinese dated April 23.

Patrol sent out from Kalgan district found and gathered [illegible] troops there. Li Hung Chang informs me that the viceroy of Shansi last Wednesday.

The execution of the murderer of Captain Bosch (Second Infantry) will take place at the scene of the crime.

In a second dispatch Count von Waldersee says:

The colonel and General Bailloud and General Ketteler have arrived at the great wall the boundary of the province of Shansi without opposition.

Without reference to the assertion cabled from the United States that Germany has adopted a uncompromising attitude in the matter of Chinese indemnity the National Zeitung says:

It should be borne in mind that Germany's whole bearing hitherto shows how much she desires to re establish order in China as soon as possible.

MINISTER CONGER IN DEFENSE OF MISSIONARIES

Victoria B. C. April 23.—In an interview with the Kobe Herald Minister Conger who has arrived in San Francisco said:

"There were really no acts on the part of the missionaries where there were not entirely justified when the circumstances are known. Missionaries did not loot. Missionaries found 2,000 destitute men and women on their hands. There was no government no organized authority. There were houses of men who had been firing on the foreign quarter directing the attacking leader of the Boxers. Their property had been abandoned as a result of the state of war and it was taken in order to succor hundreds of suffering and destitute Chinese whose lives the original owners had been laboring to destroy. Winter was coming on and necessities of some kind were imperative and the appropriation of property for ends in view was unquestionably justified. That briefly was the situation. I am prepared to justify the conduct of the American missionaries before the siege during the siege and after the siege. If you wish to get at the facts there is a missionary on board who would probably give you all the particulars you want.

The missionary was Dr. Ament who told the reporter that goods taken by the so called loot committee were goods left in stores by people who had sought refuge in the legation during the siege and goods were taken to prevent their destruction. The cloth and bedding were given to men working at the barricades and the committee handed Sir Claude MacDonald the key of the room in which all the valuables were stored. These goods were sold and the proceeds distributed among the British soldiers. His mission received but $[illegible]. Previous to this a sale of garments and curios was held and $100 netted was given to the American mission board. Most of the goods were taken from buildings that the military authorities had ordered burned. Some of the goods were restored to the owners and other owners recompensed for their loss.

Dr. Ament explained the sale of goods in the Mongol prince's house where he took up his quarters by saying they were without food and sold the goods on the advice of Mr. Conger. Had they not taken possession on the place would have been destroyed by the Russians. About $4,000 was realized by this sale which was devoted to the needs of the native Christians.

In conclusion Dr. Ament said:

The Chinese dammed up the canal and were going to drown us out. They supposed the foreigners had such an American burro in which to take refuge and were certain that underground passages had been made from the legation to the Fu so they resolved to drown us out like rats in a trap.

JAPAN CLAIMS TO HAVE SAVED THE SITUATION

Yokohoma April 12 via Victoria B. C. April 23.—There is no doubt that Japan has saved the situation in the far east so far in her determination to resist the Russian demands in Manchuria. All that was needed was for one of the powers to take a bold stand against the disturber of the peace and the youngest and weakest of them all has been the one to seize the opportunity.

Every vessel in the Japanese navy was in a condition of perfect efficiency with a thoroughly organized transport service and an army of 200,000 ready at a moments notice. All this was of course fully known at St. Petersburg and was the determining factor in the Russian backdown. The fatal blunder made by Russia in her usual astute diplomacy had cost her what had almost developed into a general disposition to let her have Manchuria.

Japan is now in no mood to let matters rest and the entire press of the empire is unanimous in demanding that steps be taken to safeguard Manchuria for all time against Russian encroachment.

Through Russia's loss Japan has made an extraordinary gain in prestige. In awaiting in the relief of the legations and in her recent triumph she has [illegible] the nations of the world under lasting obligations. It is significant however that there is not yet no unjustifiable exultation or bluster which a manifest disinclination to indulge in any undue exhibition of triumph shows that Japan has assumed her place as a power to be reckoned with in the future.

NO CLEW TO THE DARING ARKANSAS TRAIN ROBBERS

Memphis Tenn. April 23.—Detectives have been working all day at the scene of the daring train robbery on the Choctaw Oklahoma & Gulf road near Iron Mountain crossing Arkansas, at an early hour today but so far no arrests have been made.

It is stated by an official of the Wells Fargo Express company that the bandits secured less than $500. It is suspected that the men who perpetrated the robbery were in Memphis last night. A short time before the westbound train over the Kansas City, Fort Scott & Memphis left the Calhoun street station at 8:30 o'clock last night two men approached the ticket window and asked for tickets for Bridge Junction. Ticket Agent Coltart and Night Agent Washington were on duty at the time. They declined to sell the tickets to that place as no trains stop there. The men insisted on buying tickets both appearing nervously anxious to board the outgoing Kansas City train. They stated that tickets were wanted for several persons.

The supposition is that the robbery was planned to take place at Bridge Junction and that the robbers were the men who wanted tickets to that point last night their purpose being to go to Bridge Junction on the Kansas City 8:30 train and wait for the coming of the Choctaw express which reaches Bridge Junction about 12:30 a. m.

General Agent Longacre of the Wells-Fargo Express company who went to Hurlburt near the scene of the robbery on the outgoing train this morning returned this afternoon. He said that every effort was being made to apprehend the bandits and that private detectives and agents of the railroad and express company were engaged on the case. Owing to the bottoms being overflowed, he does not think the bloodhounds will be able to trail the robbers. The Wells Fargo Express company has a standing reward which will apply in this case. Mr. Longacre thinks the robbers was the work of seven men.

MASSACRE IN BRAZIL

New York April 23.—The Herald says tomorrow:

News has reached here of the complete destruction in Maragnone Brazil of the Roman Catholic mission established there a few years ago by the Capuchin fathers by a band of hostile Indians.

The mission, which was organized in 1899 was situated in a desolate district but the missionaries had been successful in their efforts to evangelize the natives and had already founded two orphan asylums. It is known that four of the Capuchin fathers and Italians from the province of Milan seven Capuchin sisters and more than 100 of their little charges were massacred.

ATTEMPTED WRECK

Butte Mont. April 23.—A special from Livingston to the Inter Mountain says an attempt was made last night to wreck Northern Pacific train No. 11 at a point just west of Mission siding. A large plank was placed across the track and two large stones placed on either end of it. Engineer Manser was unable to stop his train in time but the plot knocked the obstructions from the track with but slight injury to the engine. The company has offered a reward of $[illegible] for the arrest of the would be wreckers.

KIPLEY RESIGNED

Chicago Chief of Police Learned that the Mayor Did Not Intend to Reappoint Him

Chicago April 23.—Chief of Police Kipley handed his resignation this evening to Mayor Harrison.

For some time it has been evident from statements made by the mayor that he did not intend to reappoint Chief Kipley and as the appointment is to be announced next Monday the chief decided this afternoon to take matters into his own hands. He called upon the mayor and asked him in special terms if he was wanted for another term. The mayor was as specific as the chief and told him that he had no intention of reappointing him. The chief then went to his office and wrote out his resignation addressed to the mayor and calling a meeting of the police stations in the city announced that he was no longer chief of police.

Mayor Harrison declined to discuss the retirement of Chief Kipley or give the name of his successor.

CHARGED WITH FRATRICIDE

Trial of a Harvard Professor Begun in Cambridge

Cambridge Mass. April 23.—The trial of Prof. R. Fastman upon the charge of murdering his brother in law Richard H. Crogan jr. on July 4 last was formally opened in the superior court at East Cambridge today. Assistant District Attorney George A. Sanderson made the opening statement for the state describing in detail the relationship of the accused and deceased the premises on which they lived and the surroundings of the place where the shooting occurred. The state would show he said that after the shooting the men were seen to be struggling for what appeared to be a large revolver that Crogan was heard to shout "Oh don't." Oh don't" followed by "Charles you have murdered me." Also that Crogan made these statements just before his death. Charles Fastman has murdered me. He shot me twice and he hit it purposely." "There is the man who shot me" pointing to Fastman. He also claimed that Fastman must have been close to Crogan as the former's clothes was burned from a shot from a pistol which he says was fired at him by Crogan.

The chief witness today was Medical Examiner William Swan who gave in detail his examination of Crogan's body.

TERRORIZED BY LUKBAN

Filipinos in Samar Afraid of the Insurgent Leader

Tacloban Island of Leyte April 3.—The session of the Philippine commission at Catbalogan Samar Island today developed the fact that the inhabitants of Samar are still terrorized by the forces of General Lukban the rebel leader which consist of 600 rifles and many bolos.

The only delegates present at the session were representatives from several garrisoned towns on the coast and they feared to give information to the Americans. The commissioners assured them increased American forces would cope with the rebels and a vigorous campaign would be instituted in Samar. The only American troops in Samar are seven companies of the First infantry. Previous to the arrival of the commission yesterday, a party of insurgents fired from down the hill back of Catbalogan. Some bamboo guns were captured (?).

The commissioners sailed tonight for the southern Luzon provinces.

RUSSIAN STUDENTS

St. Petersburg April 23.—The rector today informed the students that General Van Noffsky the Russian minister of public instruction had refused to defer the examinations until a month or to make other concessions to the students.

Although the popular professor Petroitsky pleaded against an action which would render it difficult for a liberal minister to carry through his benevolent intentions the students decided by a vote of [illegible] against participation in the examinations. They resolved however not to create disorder and the minority agreed to submit to the will of the majority. The Electro Technical the Civil Engineering the Women's Medical and the Women's Academic Institutes will also decide against taking the examinations. The sincere friends of the students regret the status taken in the respect believing that the students should allow the recall of the absentees to come as an act of grace from the government and should not attempt to force concessions.

CARRIERS DISMISSED FROM POSTAL SERVICE

Uncle Sam is strict.

Two mail carriers, Phillip H. Edward J. Kelsey and James E. Olmstead were dismissed from service because it is charged they have at some time loitered on their routes. The order for their dismissal came from headquarters at Washington yesterday morning. The dismissal comes as the result of an investigation by postoffice inspectors. Edwards was the oldest carrier in the local service, having carried mail here for the past eight years. Joslyn is also old in the local service, having been on four years. Edwards is president of the local carriers' association, and an effort will be made, it is said, to get him reinstated.

The dismissal of Edwards and Joslyn have been filled by the appointment of Substitute Carriers Virgil C. Coons and John H. Lange to regular duty. Edward J. Keirle and James E. Olmstead have been appointed substitute carriers to fill the places of Coons and Lange.

SCHOOL RECEPTION TODAY—The first school reception to be given in the new Steele school building occurs this afternoon from 4 to 6 when the pupils and teachers will welcome parents and friends.

ALL I CAN DO

I have about all the work I can handle in tailoring. Keep twenty-five tailors busy all the time, and that's about all I can look after rightly. The same policies that have made that possible are applied to the furnishings and hats. Goods of a character that stand both present inspection and wear are sold at a lower price than any other dealer sells them. The stock is larger and greater in variety than that of any other local house and the fashions are invariably correct. Every correct new thing in men's furnishings is here as soon as it's brought out—often a whole season before other dealers have it.

BUTTONS

Local Trolley Operators Will Have Gold Ones.

Nothing Cheap About the New Uniforms that Mr. Stratton is Going to Have on His Men.

If the conductors and motormen on the Colorado Springs and Manitou and Colorado Springs Rapid Transit Railway companies do not go clean up into the air with pride within the next four or five days it will be because they are the only self-respected set of men that ever wore blue suits with brass buttons.

Brass buttons? Yes.

Don't you ever think it.

Not for a minute.

It's all a dream.

When a Colorado Springs trolley conductor and a soldier meet a girl on the street the soldier can go and sit in the park by himself if he wants to, but the girl will go with the trolley conductor.

Brass buttons will do for Denver and Omaha and Chicago and other small seaport towns and even for the army, but not for Colorado Springs trolley conductors.

The buttons on the uniforms of the conductors and motormen of the Colorado Springs street railway service are to be of gold; real, sure-enough Cripple Creek gold, given by Mr. Stratton, and heart-smashing Patties and the goo-goo glances that the pretty tourist girls will make in Colorado Springs when summer comes in the shape of gilt, souvenirs, are certainly going to be bad for the trolley service.

Of course it will be only a plate of gold, but it will be the Real Stuff.

A. H. Whaite & Co., the enterprising Tejon-street clothing house, has received the new uniforms and equipment for the street car employes. The suits are of a navy blue, the texture being exceptionally good, the workmanship of a superior quality and the entire uniform, consisting of coat, pants, vest and cap, and gold buttons, will be the most attractive street railway uniform ever put on as a trolley car employe's coats have chamois pockets.

The caps are blue like the uniforms, the cloth being stretched on a wire frame, this being the latest thing that is to be had in headwear of this kind. Each man is to be provided also with a brown straw cap for use in extremely warm weather.

Whaite & Co. are now busily getting the uniforms in shape for distribution among the men.

In three or four days, probably about Sunday, Colorado Springs people will get an idea that their heads that they are traveling on an entirely new street railway. The new cars are looked for almost any day and the men who will operate them will look as new as the cars.

PLANS FOR THE CONCERT OF KNEISEL QUARTETTE

The fourth of the subscription concerts under the auspices of the Colorado Springs Musical club will be given in Perkins Fine Arts hall on the evening of March 1 by the Kneisel quartette of Boston.

Subscribers who hold stubs of the season tickets may secure reserved seats for this concert by presenting the stubs and paying an additional fee of 50 cents on each stub.

Tickets will be on sale at the Heat Music company at 9 o'clock Monday, May 13. Single tickets will be on sale at $2, Wednesday morning, May 15. Students may as usual have tickets at $1 each by presenting notes from teachers to Miss Rogers, 20 San Rafael street. The concert committee considers itself particularly fortunate in being able to secure such an excellent organization and hopes for the enthusiastic co-operation of the public.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT

The sale of seats for the concert of the Colorado College Glee and Mandolin clubs opened at the opera house ticket office yesterday morning and the demand has been very flattering. From present indications the concert will be a distinct social success, as it has been in the past. Society will fill the boxes and crowd the parquet in honor of the young men who represent the local institution of higher learning in the musical world.

The members of the two clubs are ready to give a concert that will win the plaudits of the best musicians of the city, besides pleasing those who like pure fun and rollicking college faith and song. The programme is high in [illegible] Glee club is better than ever, and this is not a mere stock phrase. There are 15 men in the club and they sing with sweet harmony and in correct time. One of the features of the programme will be "The Toreador Song," from Carmen, the solo of which will be sung by George H. Crampton, the celebrated English baritone, while the Glee club will lend volume and power to the spirited chorus.

The Mandolin club is far superior to the one of last year, and it has won the highest words of praise all over the state. The two together, with Mr. Crampton and Mr. Moore as vocal soloists, and Mr. Shantz as euphonium soloist, give a programme varied and pleasing to all.

Opera house prices prevail. Concert Friday night.

W. H. Wells, to build a residence of five rooms and bath on lots 7 and 8 of block 7 on Summit street; cost $2,000.

A. Bentrup, to build an addition of two rooms to his house at No. 824 South Tejon street; cost $400.

J. L. Pendery to build a residence of seven rooms and bath on lot 4 of block 201 on Wahsatch avenue; cost $2,000.

G. W. C. MACNEILL WAS PROMOTED FOR BRAVERY

G. W. C. MacNeill, brother of D. G. C. MacNeill of this city, who has spent several years in Colorado Springs and Cripple Creek, is now a lieutenant in the English army in South Africa in the campaign against the Boers. He has served in the army about one year as a trooper, and was recently promoted to a lieutenancy as a reward for bravery in volunteering to carry a message across the battlefield under extremely hazardous circumstances. The dispatches in the English papers are as yet very meager as to details in this promotion and the incidents leading up to it.

"I have heard nothing from my brother about this promotion, and know nothing beyond the mere fact that it did occur," said D. G. C. MacNeill last night in reply to a query relating to his brother's promotion. "I shall probably hear more about this when I receive the English papers or in a letter from my brother."

JUSTICE RUBY KISSED THE BRIDE

[illegible] being wed before Edward Cummings and Mrs. Mary G. Williams, who came to Colorado Springs yesterday to be married, were not a little abashed at the ceremony before them. They secured a marriage license at the office of the county clerk and went directly to the office of Justice of the Peace W. N. Ruby to be made one.

All went well until the ceremony was over. The judge stepped aside so as not to interfere with the usual osculatory demonstration which takes place at this time.

Mr. Cummings evidently forgot that "it was up to him" and the bride looked about furtively.

"If the husband won't, the judge will," said Justice Ruby.

And he kissed the bride.

HAD A GOOD RIDE BUT CAN'T PAY FOR IT

[illegible] timers, were the first drunks to have a ride in the new patrol wagon. A call was sent in at 4:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon calling the "rattler" to the corner of Cascade and Huerfano streets where Officers Knipp and Hatler were in charge of two men who were too drunk to walk to headquarters. The ticket of arrest shows that there was but 5 cents between the two men so the ride so far has not cost them very much.

City Treasurer Hale yesterday paid for the team and also paid a fee of $5 to the veterinary, who made an examination of the horses amounting in all to $20.

TAKING CHANCES

You take some chance on every business transaction you undertake, more on some than on others, of course. Some ways of doing things are cheaper and have less risk than others.

There's no cheaper or safer way of getting public attention to your wants than the using of Gazette Warranted Want Ads.

They act quickly, are low in price and the Gazette takes the risk.

That's one case where luck can't go against you. Ever try?

Look over the want advertisements and see the great number of different things brought to notice there. Almost everything which comes into human needs changes owners through the medium of these columns. In every kind of business transaction is brought about through them. There's hardly a thing they won't do. Folks who once use them never thing of trying any other method. Warranted want advertising is a new proposition. There's no increase in cost, but the warrant throws the risk on the Gazette.

If you have anything to dispose of, if there's anything you want, you can't do better than use a Gazette Warranted Want Advertisement.

At least, come in and ask about them.

SECRETARY LONG WILL ARRIVE HERE FRIDAY

Secretary of the Navy Long will arrive in Colorado Springs about Friday and will remain probably a week with the members of his family who live here. A special dispatch to the Gazette from Washington says that Mr. Long left there yesterday for this city.

The secretary will confer with the local committee in charge of the reception to President McKinley, relative to the entertainment of the distinguished visitor. He will join the presidential party at some point in the south and proceed with it to the Pacific coast.

NEW EQUIPMENT FOR THE CADET BATTALION

The long looked for equipment for the high school cadet battalion will arrive next week. Most of the cadets do not know of this and they will be pleased with the news. The bond of $2,000 which the state requires was signed yesterday by six of the prominent men of the city and the last formalities have been gone through with so nothing remains but for the adjutant general of the state to ship the guns.

The equipment will consist of eighty Springfield rifles with the necessary side arms and belts. While the rifles are not new, they are in excellent condition, only having been used a few times and the cadets will be extremely proud of them. The new guns and side arms were secured through the efforts of Instructor W. L. Evans, Postmaster Dana, and Captain Curtis. Mr. Evans conceived the idea and Mr. Dana carried on a good deal of correspondence in regard to the matter. It was first thought that the government would furnish the equipment, but later it was found out that it would have to be secured from the state and Mr. Dana and Mr. Evans turned their efforts in that direction. It was found out that a bond in the sum of $2,000 would have to be furnished and as no one could be found who would sign the bond the matter was dropped until the beginning of the present term when Captain Curtis took the matter up, and with success.

WORK BEGUN ON THE HILLSIDE SCHOOL

Work on the new Hillside school building was begun yesterday by Contractor Atkinson. The ground was surveyed and measured off and excavation will be begun today. The specifications have already been published in the Gazette.

When completed the building will fill a very great convenience as the school children of that portion of the district have been compelled to go a long way to school. The new structure will also relieve the crowded condition of other buildings to a considerable extent. It will be opened in September.

BURNEY SENT HIS WIFE AWAY FOR HER HEALTH

To avoid the temptation of beating his wife, William Burney, colored, agreed yesterday to pay her railroad fare to Minneapolis, when there is little possibility the two will meet. Burney, who assaulted the woman with a cane Sunday night, was given a hearing yesterday morning before Police Magistrate Boatright, charged with disturbance. He was fined $10 and costs, and the fine was remitted pending his good behavior.

Burney was let off easy because he promised not to prosecute his wife on the charge of larceny he had preferred against her and agreed to pay her expenses to Minneapolis where she would be free from harm.

WATER SITUATION CAUSES TROUBLE

Colorado Springs Councilmen in the City Yesterday.

METER SYSTEM UNPOPULAR

And No Other Arrangement for Settling an Old Difficulty is Suggested.

The committee which was appointed at the last meeting of the Colorado Springs council to investigate the needs of this city in regard to water mains, was in the city yesterday and was driven over the lines by Chief Birdsall and other city officials. The committee visited the prospective additions to the city and will report the results of its investigation at the next meeting of the council in Colorado Springs. A committee will be appointed by the mayor to work in conjunction with the Colorado Springs committee to try to secure the much wanted improvements but it is very likely that nothing can be done in regard to the matter until the next fiscal year as the appropriation by the Colorado Springs council for Colorado City water is only $2,500.

The water question has long been a thorn in the side of the people of this city but there is no ready way in which it can be remedied. Colorado Springs has offered more than once to furnish all the water this city can use at so much per gallon; Colorado City to lay its own pipes and collect from all users. The pipes which they have already laid would be given to the city. This proposition did not meet with favor, however, because it was thought that in the summer months when a great quantity of water is used for sprinkling purposes the city would be loser. Then again should there be a big fire on which a stream would have to be played for hours, the city would have to pay for it and could not be reimbursed. All of the houses would have to be equipped with meters also.

As it is now, when an addition wants to come into the city property owners cannot be assured of a water supply and consequently they do not like to bring this property within the corporate limits. This is the situation at present with the Rustic Home and Grand View additions, but it is sincerely hoped that the matter can be adjusted soon in some manner satisfactory to all parties concerned.

RUSTIC HOME SITES TO BE DISTRIBUTED

The Rustic Home Investment company is able to announce that, while the shares in the sale of the Rustic Home addition have not all been taken, a sufficient number have been disposed of to justify the company in setting the date for the division of the property. Judging from past sales and the number spoken for the promoters are satisfied that the remainder of the 98 shares will be disposed of during the present week and has therefore determined that the division will positively take place on the ground of the addition at 2 o'clock p. m. Tuesday, April 30.

The company requests that every shareholder be present to take part in the drawing which will be held under whatever rules the shareholders desire. There are 98 lots in the addition, and that number of shares have been sold, each share selling for $500. Each person who has purchased a share owns a ninety-eighth interest in the addition, and the drawing will be held to decide which particular part of the addition belongs to each person.

BRIEF CITY ITEMS

GETTING MANY VEHICLES—Colorado City will soon have enough express wagons and moving vans to handle the business of the whole Pike's Peak section. C. M. Sherman yesterday got his new wagon out for the first time and it is a very handsome vehicle. M. K. Rankin has placed an order with one of the largest eastern carriage factories for a fine 10-foot express wagon, and it will be here in time for the summer business. Mr. Sherman has not awarded the contract for his new barn and wagon shed yet, but the contractors are preparing bids and he will be ready to decide on who will do the work by the last of this week.

MORE SALES—Murray & Snyder, the well-known real estate firm, report the sale of the following properties: Lots 29 and 30 of block 21 from the East Colorado City Town and Improvement company to H. A. Mullen. Lot 30 of block 117, in Owen, Love & Quinby's addition, from Sarah A. Love to Andrew J. Workman. Mr. Workman is a carpenter and contractor and will immediately begin the erection of a dwelling on his newly acquired property.

POLICE COURT—Business in police court yesterday morning was not as rushing as it has been for the past two or three days and only four cases were brought before Judge Bates for trial. All of these were on charges of drunkenness and the usual fines were imposed and the men committed.

RAILS ARRIVING—Two carloads of steel rails arrived in the city Monday afternoon and will be used in the construction of the new street railway lines in the northern part of the city.

STREET SHOW—There was another fakir on the streets night before last who gave a show in connection with his patent medicine sales. The dummy spoiled Constantinople to the great delight of the crowd. Much has assembled to see the fun (?)

DIED IN NOVA SCOTIA—Rev. W. E. Powell of this city has received the news of the death of his father, Louis Powell, on the 10th inst. in Little River, Nova Scotia. Mr. Powell was a prominent man in his locality, and was 82 years of age at the time of his death.

CONCENTRATOR MACHINE—H. P. Rundall was in the city yesterday showing a new style concentrator on the streets. He claims many things for his machine which no other machine possesses and expects to sell a number of them in the city.

WOMEN OF WOODCRAFT—The Women of Woodcraft met in the K. P. hall yesterday afternoon and installed the new officers which were elected at the last meeting of the lodge.

WILL MOVE BUILDING—One of the old frame buildings which stands on the site of the new Reed building will be moved to the western part of the city and remodeled for a dwelling house. The other building, which stood just west of this building has been torn down.

SUCCESSFUL BALL—The first annual ball, to be given by the I. U. S. E. of A. No. 31, was held in the A. O. U. W. hall last night and a good sum was realized for the benefit of the order, which has but recently been organized in this city. A large crowd was present and danced to music by the Midland orchestra until a late hour.

PERSONALS

Mr. W. H. Fellison, assistant city treasurer of St. Joseph, Mo., is the guest of his uncle, J. H. Jackson of Jefferson avenue, this week.

Matthew Hennesy has returned to Colorado City and will make his home here in the future. Mr. Hennesy formerly resided here, but went to North Duxbury, Vt., about four years ago and has been there ever since. He is a railroad man.

E. L. McDowell of Fairbury, Ill., who is interested in the new Colorado City bank, arrived in the city yesterday and will remain a short time looking over the prospects for the bank. Mr. McDowell is making a trip through the west looking over his interests in this bank and Nebraska. He is at the head of an enterprise in Fairbury, Neb.

Mrs. H. S. Van Cleve, who has been ill for some time at her home on the South Side, was reported very much worse yesterday. For a time it was thought that she would get better, but now little hope is held for her recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Dietrich and Miss Aggie Glenn are recent arrivals in Colorado City. They expect to make their home here in the future.

J. E. Goff, who was injured in a runaway about a week ago, has entirely recovered and is able to attend to his duties as manager of the Colorado City branch of the Newton Lumber company.

Mrs. B. A. Morehead of Perry, O. T., is visiting in the city the guest of her sister, Mrs. Dan Mara.

ADDITION PLANNED FOR HAGERMAN BUILDING

Another improvement is to be made to the business center of the city. This time the Hagerman block, at the corner of Tejon and Kiowa streets, is to be improved.

This building, which is one of the handsomest in the city, is to have an additional story put on in the rear of the present four-story part. The rear of the building at present is only three stories high, and it will be built up to conform with the front of the handsome structure. This extra story will be as substantial and as complete in every detail as the main part of the building is at present.

It is probable that the work will be started within two weeks.

MUST BELIEVE IT.

When Well-known Colorado Springs People Tell It So Plainly.

When public endorsement is made by a representative citizen of Colorado Springs the proof is positive. You must believe it. Read this testimony. Every backache sufferer, every man, woman or child with any kidney trouble will find profit in the reading:

Mr. David DeGraff, of 515 North Weber street, says: "If I did not find that Doan's Kidney Pills kept kidney complaint in check, if they had not helped me from the first dose I took, I never would have bought some half-dozen boxes at the Smith-Wilson Drug Co.'s store, 51 North Tejon street; neither would I have given two boxes to a friend of mine interested in mining property, nor could I be induced to recommend the preparation."

Remember the name—Doan's and take no substitute.

Many people suffer untold tortures from piles, because of the popular impression that they can not be cured. Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment will cure them. It has met with absolute success. Price, 50 cents, in bottles, tubes 75 cents. Hafley-Arcularius Drug Co., 21 South Tejon street.

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS WEAK?

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

To Prove what the Great Kidney Remedy, Swamp-Root, Will do for YOU, all our Readers May Have a Sample Bottle Sent Absolutely Free by Mail.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected, and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the famous new discovery, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for more sickness and suffering than any other disease, and if permitted to continue fatal results are sure to follow. Kidney trouble irritates the nerves, makes you dizzy, restless, sleepless and irritable. Makes you pass water often during the day, and obliges you to get up many times during the night. Causes puffy or dark circles under the eyes, rheumatism, gravel, catarrh of the bladder, pain or dull ache in the back, joints and muscles, makes your head ache and back ache, causes indigestion, stomach and liver troubles; you get a sallow, yellow complexion; makes you feel as though you had heart trouble; you may have plenty of ambition, but no strength; get weak and waste away.

The cure for these troubles is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the world-famous kidney remedy. In taking Swamp-Root you afford natural help to Nature, for Swamp-Root is the most perfect healer and gentle aid to the kidneys that is known to medical science.

If there is any doubt in your mind as to your condition, take from your water on rising about four ounces, place it in a glass or bottle and let it stand twenty-four hours. If on examination it is milky or cloudy, if there is a brick-dust settling, or if small particles float about in it, your kidneys are in need of immediate attention.

HARRY CORSON CLARKE.

"What Did Tomkins Do?" is the name of the new comedy Mr. Clarke will present at the Opera house tomorrow evening. Harry Corson Clarke was born to his profession. The blood of his ancestors who were players, betrays itself in his every performance; and it is because his art is based upon the laws of the legitimate old school that he is a legitimately successful actor of the modern school. The grandson of Corson W. Clarke, stage manager of Barnum's museum in the palmy days, and the son of Mrs. Adele Clarke, who learned her art from Edwin Forrest, Charlotte Cushman, E. L. Davenport and Edwin Booth, could not but reflect many of the virtues of the old fashion of acting. Mr. Clarke combines the integrity of the old school with the naturalness of the new—and in that his greatness lies. In 1884 he took part in Shook and Collier's notable production of "The Lights O' London." Immediately afterward he was engaged by Maud Granger, with whom he toured for a season in repertoire. Next he played in the initial production of George Fawcett Rowe's play, "Beauty," at Wallack's theater, New York, and his work there led to his engagement to play the Stage Manager in "Mam'zelle." In this eccentric comedy role—the first of the sort that he essayed, Mr. Clarke found the field for the display of his best talents. He has devoted himself almost exclusively to eccentric comedy roles ever since, and the result of his unflagging zeal is that he now stands at the head in America in his chosen line. Mr. Clarke made his first venture as a star in "What Happened to Jones." With his own company he toured for three seasons in that capital comedy and added greatly to his popularity wherever he appeared. His impersonation was so artistic, so humorous and altogether so intelligent that two dramatic critics, who witnessed his performance, grew enthusiastic over his work, and offered to write a comedy especially for him that would bring into play the full range of his versatile talents. The result was that in the spring and summer of 1900 "What Did Tomkins Do?" was written by Randolph Hartley and George Taggart and it so pleased Mr. Clarke that he at once accepted it and prepared to produce it without delay. Doubtless in the years to come many another play will be written especially for Mr. Clarke, and those who know his talents best are the most confident that whatever roles he essays will be played with the keenest intelligence and the most consummate art that may be brought to them.

SAG HARBOR.

"Sag Harbor" is one of the biggest, if not the biggest, theatrical success of the current New York season. This attraction has been booked for next Tuesday at the Opera house.

It is worthy of uncommon congratulation that this dramatic prize has been secured for our city, and lovers of the play may be assured that the cast and production which Liebler and company will present here, will be in every respect identical with those offered in New York during the recent long run of the play at Hammerstein's new theater, Republic. "Sag Harbor" has but just closed its triumphant run of three months in New York, and a return engagement of several weeks in Chicago, and is now playing its way to this city. The reception of this latest play by James A. Herne in the metropolis was extraordinarily enthusiastic. In the opinion of the critics "Sag Harbor" is the greatest play that Herne has ever written and almost all the New York papers reiterated what the Chicago papers said last year, i. e., that "Sag Harbor" is better than "Shore Acres." An interesting feature of the engagement here will be the appearance of Mr. Herne's two daughters, Chrystal and Julie, both of whom are said to have inherited to a remarkable degree much of their distinguished father's talent. Their mother was known to the stage as Katherine Corcoran, one of America's leading emotional actresses.

THE SCHOOL ELECTION.

ON MONDAY, May 6, a school election will be held at which a member of the district board will be chosen as a successor to Mr. J. P. Humphrey.

Mr. Humphrey has been a member of the board for many terms, and no one has contributed more time and thought towards the upbuilding of the schools of this city than he. He has been at all times a most valuable member of the board, and the city owes him a debt of gratitude which it will be most difficult to repay.

Very much to the regret of numerous friends Mr. Humphrey has declined to become a candidate for re-election, and it will be necessary to choose some one in his place.

Thus far there are two candidates for the position, Mr. George Elston, who was first in the field, is well known as the manager of the Alamo hotel. He is a successful business man, has a large circle of friends and has always taken an active interest in public affairs in the city. He is in every way well qualified for the position.

The second candidate is Mr. Charles G. Collais. Mr. Collais is a carpenter and builder, and is well and favorably known to many of the people of this city. Some years ago he served a term as a member of the state assembly, having been elected on the Republican ticket. He has been prominently identified with the labor organizations of the city, and is an active member of one of the churches. He would undoubtedly make an excellent member of the school board and his practical knowledge of building would be of special advantage.

The contest between these two gentlemen will be largely between their personal friends. Whichever wins, a good member of the board will be chosen, and whichever loses a good man will be defeated. The Gazette regrets that the school district cannot have the advantage of the services of both of them.

In such a contest, where the school interests will be entirely safe with either, the Gazette does not feel called on to take side for or against either candidate. Both have our good wishes.

As in former years the columns of the Gazette will be open impartially to the friends of the candidates who may wish to express their reasons for voting for one or the other candidate as a means of advancing the interests of the schools and of the city.

THE WILSON-JACKSON SETTLEMENT.

SO LONG as the city of Colorado Springs exists the Strickler tunnel will, we hope, continue to supply water for the benefit of its inhabitants, but we confess to a sincere desire that the settlement made by the city council last Monday evening may prove to be the last we shall hear of the contract under which the Strickler tunnel was built.

Nothing that has ever happened in the history of this city has given rise to so many disagreeable complications as this. Mistakes have been made and misunderstandings have arisen, and it is impossible to refer to any part of the subject without stirring up things that are better left in peace.

The council has done a good thing in making the settlement, and the earnest hope of the public is that it will stay settled.

INCREASED SCHOOL FACILITIES.

THE people of Colorado City are to be congratulated on the evidence of growth as shown by the establishment of a high school in that place. As is well known to Gazette readers, Colorado City is one of the most prosperous communities of the state, and the recent change to a city of the second class has been accompanied by other notable signs of progress. The spirit that characterizes the city is shown by this prompt resolve to establish a high school where the youth may enjoy the same privileges as are given in the larger cities.

To begin with, the high school will be established in one of the present buildings, but we are confident that in the near future a separate building will become necessary.

In this connection it is noteworthy that Colorado Springs is also to have a new school building, the contract for the Hillside school having been let at the last meeting of the board. This will serve the present needs of the southeastern part of the city, but the structure by no means settles the difficult problem of sufficient school accommodation for the children of this district. Even at the present time there is need for another building in the extreme northern part of the district, and some of the central buildings are inadequate for the accommodation of the children that use them.

Growth always brings with it added responsibilities, and one of these in the case of a city is the necessity of providing suitable school accommodations. The only safe policy in this line is the liberal one, for good schools are not only a safeguard to the community and a necessity to good citizenship, but they are also one of the best attractions for which an enterprising city can expend the public money.

The recent decision of the United States supreme court in regard to divorces is in accordance with public morality, and since the supreme court says so, it is undoubtedly good law. The decision will attract renewed attention to the subject and that too is a good thing. This is one of the subjects upon which there is need for federal legislation, and congress should be given the power to enact a uniform divorce law that would apply to all parts of the country, states and territories alike. The recent supreme court decision touches and clears up only one corner of the matter and the utmost confusion prevails elsewhere.

The report that Andreas Wessels is alive after being summarily executed as a spy by General De Wet, is bad, very bad. A Dutchman, of all men in the world, should stay dead, after he has been killed.

British newspapers will have a fresh case of the blues when they learn that a large part of the new bonds to pay the cost of the Boer war is being sold in New York.

THE LATEST THING IN SCIENCE

THE rapidity with which [illegible] their way into the position of thought and speech of the American people is a very gratifying proof of the general intelligence in this country. This was exemplified by the history of the "X" rays, which in a short time became a common topic of conversation and which were understood to a greater or less degree by all the people.

It is probable therefore that within a few weeks every one will have heard of the "invisible spectrum," and will know something of its bearing upon the problems of meteorology and other sciences. And yet it was on Friday last that Professor S. P. Langley, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution announced the results of investigations and experiments that he has been carrying on for the past 20 years.

If the length of the visible spectrum be represented by one foot the proportionate length of the invisible spectrum is 20 feet. It has been known for a hundred years that the spectrum extended beyond the visible part, but there was no detailed knowledge of the invisible spectrum until Professor Langley began his experiments, and Dr. John Draper declared that the length of the invisible spectrum was not more than three times that of the visible part.

"About 20 years ago," says a writer in the Chicago Record-Herald, "Mr. Langley had proved by actual measurement with the thermopile that it extended beyond this, and a certain French observer had guessed rather than showed that it extended further, for there was then no means of measuring the distance in wave lengths. Mr. Langley, to continue there, invented the bolometer, an instrument which now indicates the one-one-thousand-millionth of a degree centigrade.

"About the early use of this and about its first discovery he asked permission of the academy to recall a personal reminiscence which would always dwell in his own remembrance. This was that, on the day in 1881, nearly 20 years ago, being near the summit of Mount Whitney in the Sierra Nevadas, alone and at an altitude of 12,000 feet, he there with this newly invented instrument was showing in this invisible spectrum. Mr. Langley's previous experience had been that of most scientific men, that very few discoveries come with a surprise; they are usually the summation of the still work of years.

"In this case, almost the only one in his experience, he had had the sensations of one who makes a sudden discovery. He had run down the spectrum, noting the evidences of invisible heat die out on the scale of the instrument, until he came to the apparent end, even of the invisible, beyond which the most prolonged researches of investigators had shown nothing up to that time. There he waited for the indications to return, and finding none until they, too, ceased at the point where the latest French investigators had found, as they fancied, the very end of the spectrum, some happy thought he pushed the indicators of this delicate instrument into the region still beyond. In the still air of this lofty region the sunbeams passed unimpeded by the mists of this lower earth, and the curve of heat, which had fallen to nothing, began to rise again. There was something there, for he found, suddenly and unexpectedly, a new spectrum of great extent, wholly unknown to science and whose presence was revealed by the new instrument, the bolometer.

"It afterward proved that here was the principal seat of the changes which affect the climates and the crops and agriculture.

"He had been working for nearly 15 years to map out this region. It was now before them, briefly speaking, they could see by its extent on the map that if the visible spectrum, sometimes called the Newtonian spectrum, was represented by a length of one foot, the new spectrum extended to a length of nearly twenty feet on the same scale, and through the greater part of this immense extent the discoveries had been added solely by the bolometer, an instrument which is so sensitive to heat, and in such narrow portions, that it might be called an eye which saw in the dark, what was light to the eye being cold to the bolometer; so that as this infinitely delicate instrument passed down beyond the spectrum, which, as we know, has what is to visible but none the less enjoy, creeping its way in the dark, wherever a dark line was present it felt it as cold but registered it as a separate black line, in spaces not a hundredth of an inch apart; and in this way was mapped before the academy more than 100 invisible lines, a greater number than had been laid down by Kirchhof and Bunsen in the visible spectrum.

"The instrument was as accurate as it was sensitive. The first observers like Sir John Herschel, who succeeded his father in the research, had only indicated two or three of these alternations of heat or cold, and indicated them with possible error of half a degree or so. In this case the hundreds of lines which had been thus groped for had their places settled with a certainty corresponding to the precision of astronomical measurement of visible things, the probable error of measurement of each one of these being less than one second. Mr. Langley stated that in the brief time he had to speak he could only allude to the most important feature of these researches, which were not their delicacy or precision, but the promise they gave of future utility. Every form of life upon the earth, without exception, is maintained by the sun. So much is known, but we are now coming by studies such as these to look forward to some knowledge of the way in which the sun maintains it, which had hitherto been hidden from us. Charts which had been drawn at the Smithsonian observatory and which were not here shown, had indicated most distinctly the spectrum's progressive changes through spring, summer, autumn and winter, and we are beginning to see how future changes in the character of the coming seasons and in their effects upon the crops somewhat similar to those made day by day by the weather bureau, but infinitely more far reaching, might be made from the direct study of the sun.

"Joseph, we are told, was able to predict seven years of plenty and seven years of famine. We are still far, it is true, from being able to do this, Mr. Langley said, but it is not too much to say that these more recent studies strongly point in the direction of some coming power of prediction.

"Mr. Langley referred humorously to the fact that he was describing the work of 20 years, and he had but five minutes to give it in these last hours of the academy's meeting and could not enlarge upon the future.

"He had the honor to present to the academy a book, the first volume of the Annals of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, which would give in detail the facts he had now no time to give and which he hoped would show that the observatory had fulfilled the intentions of congress in founding it. It was something of not only abstract scientific interest, but gave a promise of rendering service to agriculture and to other national concerns; and he dismissed this long part of the work of his life with the hope that it would lead in coming years to great utilities and the protection of coming harvests founded on relations between the seasons, the crops and their great producer, the sun."

We have quoted at length from this article because it is the first published account of a scientific discovery of much more than ordinary importance and one that bids fair to become a topic of everyday interest. Certainly a scientific basis for weather prediction is something of very great importance and a subject that will attract a great amount of attention among all classes of readers.

THE WAR AGAINST THE RATS.

THE discovery that rats were most active agents in the spread of contagious diseases and especially of the bubonic plague was quickly followed by a proposition from the Japanese government for united action by the civilized governments of the world for the extermination of these animals. This proposal appears to have been favorably received and already the work has been begun.

The method selected is that which has proven so effective against the rabbits of Australia. There are certain germ diseases that are extraordinarily fatal to particular animals that are harmless to others and to the human race. In the case against the rats the virus of such a disease has already been tested in the United States Marine hospital at San Francisco. It is perfectly harmless to other animals, but it is beyond question rough on rats. The disease spreads rapidly, develops quickly and kills by the thousand.

Colorado Springs is not particularly interested in the subject, since there are no rats in this city, but we wish the best of success to other cities in their efforts to rid themselves of these pests.

The expected has happened, Funston has been nominated for vice president, and the world is free to resume its regular revolutions.

President McKinley's train will be an object lesson in the perfection of American railway construction and operation.

FROM THE PRESS OF THE NATION.

The First Filipino Governor.
(New York Press.)

There is a fine daring in the appointment by the Taft commission of a Filipino governor, lately surrender-ing governor of the great province of Ilocos, containing, as it does the second city of the archipelago. The plan of giving high office to a subsurgent within three months after his submission has not before occurred to nations upon whom has devolved the pacification by arms of ceded territory. The proceeding is a definite step from the second one in dealing with barbaric states, of thrashing a native ruler, and then letting him go on with his government. Here we take a man who never had any status save as a successful rebel against American authority, and clothe him with all the powers in this jurisdiction of the government that has conquered him. It is a good deal as if the powers had made one of the Boxer leaders governor of a Chinese province in recognition of his destruction of the authority of the emperor and his defiance of that of the allies. This is magnificent. We shall see later if it is wise.

It may be said, however, that the appointment was not a mere "inspiration." The strongest point in its favor is the fact that it was recommended by Gen. Hughes, the military governor of Panay, who has chased the "insurgents" on too many weary "hikes" to enter into any sentimental consideration for them or their leaders. A factor in the selection, too, must be the comparatively moderate behavior of the Filipinos when the town of Iloilo was in their possession. For several months they held it after its capture from a Spanish garrison, and before the ratification of the Jones-Gorman play of peanut politics at Washington allowed the landing of the American expedition which had lain for weeks in the harbor, waiting on demagogue leisure at home. The insurgents burned a considerable portion of the town when they fled, but there was good order during their control and none of the wholesale murder and looting which Aguinaldo had planned at Manila in the event of a similar success there. It is to be presumed that Gen. Delgado, the new appointee, was responsible for the good order, and not for the incendiarism.

It is to be hoped that the Filipinos will appreciate the magnanimity of the action, though, after three and a half centuries of the operation of all right ideas of government, it is to be doubted if they will assign the action to aught but eccentricity. Fear they have probably ceased to consider an American motive. Yet the experiment is splendidly well worth making. If it fails, the United States is strong enough and rich enough to stand the cost of making it. If it succeeds the problem of governing the archipelago is set a long way toward solution; the aspirations of the people are realized to a degree which few of them dared to expect for themselves, and none for them, and a new and shining example is furnished in methods of management of a subject people of mixed races. Let us hope that in time a Filipino governor in every province will report to the American governor in [illegible]

Who is the Junta?
(New York Tribune.)

A tale comes from London, most grewsome and "bluggy." It is put forth by the Filipino junta upon the strength of reports received from the branch of that junta which has its name, place and local habitation at Singapore. It is to the effect that General Emilio Aguinaldo, the Washington of the Philippines, etc., did not voluntarily take the oath of allegiance to the United States, but was constrained so to do against his will under threat of being put to the torture. General MacArthur, it is said, had the torture chamber all swept and garnished and ready for Aguinaldo's agonized occupancy when the stern and indomitable patriot yielded and declared his preference for signing rather than for being consigned to the care of the familiars. There is an unfortunate hiatus in the story at this point. We are not informed as to the kind of torture which was to be applied. Was it the rack and thumbscrews or the reading of William Lloyd Garrison's poems? Was it an iron boot with which the Washington of the Philippines was confronted and which cowed his otherwise unconquerable soul, or was it one of Edison's Aladdin's justly renowned Aladdin stoves, upon which his meals were thereafter to be cooked? Or was the dire choice given him between taking the oath of allegiance and subscribing to Irving Wallace's opinions of the Hawaiian drama? We shall hope to be enlightened upon these esoteric points by return cable.

Meantime we should really like to know who is the Filipino junta. We speak of it, or him, in the singular deliberately and advisedly. We remember what a formidable and numerous body the Cuban junta once appeared to be, comprising ostensibly a large majority of all the almost-pure, half marked lovers of liberty in the two hemispheres, and how it finally was found to have consisted, from start to finish, of just one amiable and peace-loving but most ingenious gentleman, whereof we saw Who is the Filipino junta? And does he live in Tooley St., London, or in Beacon St., Boston? A reply, prepaid, will greatly oblige.

The Jew In London.

Yet nowhere on earth is the Jew treated with more consideration than in those somewhat overpeopled islands, particularly in the city of London, as though to obliterate from Israel's mind the cruel memories associated with the Britannia of the dark ages. That was the time when her kings had the Jew's teeth pulled to make him disclose his hidden wealth, and when her populace reveled in the scorn and torture of the ill-fated sons of Judah, who were outraged, hanged by the score and finally expelled with the warning that return was a crime punishable with death. "No Jews, no wooded shoes," was that people's clamor, whose humanized descendants now listen attentively to six Jewish voices in their house of commons, bow respectfully before a Jewish peer in their proud house of lords, after they allowed a mighty Jewish brain to shape the destinies of their empire for over a generation, and have scarcely a high office in the land that has not been once at least filled by an Israelite. —(Henry Blowitz, in the April Literary Era.

A Little Hero of Today.

A touching incident occurred one day recently in St. Mary's hospital, Hoboken. A little ten-year-old lad had been brought in, his right arm broken and mangled by the wheels of a railroad train. He had been sent out by his mother to pick up coal on the tracks and was run down. In spite of his terrible suffering the chief concern of the little fellow seemed to be for his mother when she should learn what had befallen him. "Please don't send word to my mother," he pleaded. "She loves me very much and it will break her heart to know that I am hurt. It was glad after being persuaded that his unexplained absence would cause his mother greater anxiety than the knowledge of his injury, that he was reconciled to the thought of having her summoned to the ward.—(Leslie's Weekly.

And if the sums saved are made to earn interest the result is still more pronounced. Banks usually pay no interest on deposits. Clean Coal.

Coal is black—there's no getting away from that; but what we mean by clean coal is that it's free from unnecessary dirt, slate and stone; that it burns practically to clean ash; that it gives out little or no smoke, and that sulphurous fumes are just about eliminated—which, briefly put, indicates that our coal is a fine coal for fuel and cooking.

AN ARMY HELD MT. WASHINGTON

Military Force Mustered in by Ben Brewer Monday Was Mustered Out Yesterday by District Court.

A force of workmen armed with rifles and clubs was put to rout at Mount Washington yesterday by a deputy sheriff, armed with an order from the district court. The situation had taken charge of the disputed property of Louis Schrader brick company, Louis Schrader, instigator of the trouble, and Carl Westesen, who are said to be in gulch begun several days ago by the district court. This had been the employees of Mr. Schrader. The plaintiff in the gulch at the mouth of their weapons and it was said that a conflict resulting in the loss of life would result if Judge Cunningham not interfere.

The dispute over the possession of a tract of land 200 feet wide furnishing a wedge from the brick yard to the quarry belongs to Schrader. The latter claims the land. Brewer Schrader company filed a suit against Ben Brewer, Carl Westesen, the Colorado Springs company and the Colorado Springs Hotel company for possession of the tract. On Monday the plaintiffs workmen built a fence between the brick yard and the disputed territory, intending to make the strip into a road way. Mr. Day according to a writ of the district court, Messrs. Brewer and Westesen armed a number of men with rifles and marshaled them at the brick yards. Schrader's men were there to resist. But they had no weapons and were compelled to retreat when confronted by the armed force. The vanquish men said they fled because the attacking parts threatened to shoot.

The victors at once began to rebuild the fence which had been torn down. In a few hours they had constructed a barbed-wire barricade which could have done justice to a Spanish abbatoir. Then they settled down with their weapons heavy and numerous.

As long as the fence was there it was impossible to haul brick away from the yards as there is no other way to the public road except through the disputed tract. With a fence and the Brewer Westesen army in the way, the Schrader forces had to quit work.

There was a council of war and Schrader's lawyers immediately began preparing a petition for an injunction restraining Brewer and Westesen and their soldiers from occupying the tract. The petition was not filed until Monday night but Judge Cunningham convened court and made an order granting the temporary injunction. Yesterday morning a deputy sheriff served notices of the injunction upon Mr. Brewer at the scene of the siege and Mr. Westesen in Colorado City.

The army was at once mustered out of service.

El Jabel Temple Comes Here in May

The local committee of the Mystic Shriners is planning with great zeal the grand ceremonial session of the order to be held in this city May 10.

Jabel temple is the state council of the order there being but one in Colorado. It has a membership reaching the whole state and it is said that nearly all the nobles of the shrine will be present at this session. Trinidad, Leadville, Pueblo and Denver are trying to send train loads of pilgrims to the Mecca of Colorado Springs and with the initiated of these cities will come many noble visitors. Upon the arrival of the several trains in this city on May 10 at 10 o'clock post, the Mystic pilgrims will form in a long column and proceed in full regalia to the Temple theater.

Last Big Contract on Antlers Is Begun

Work was begun yesterday on the big contract for the completion of the Antlers hotel. A force of men under the direction of Thomas H. Miller, contractor, started the extensive work on the inside decorations. Mr. Frederick J. Sterner, supervising architect, is now in the city and came up from Denver during the day to see how the alterations are progressing.

Decorative work was begun on the fourth floor. Mr. Miller said that he hoped to have the contract completed by the first of July when the building will be ready for occupancy. The painters, under the direction of Mondecai Boring, have almost completed this work on the interior of the hotel.

The decoration of the rooms and corridors will be simple but artistic. Nearly all the bed rooms will be papered, while the halls and will be finished in oil. The cafe and main corridor walls will have what is known as the Japanese finish with old ivory ceilings.

Said Some One Had Designs on Her Life

Nearly a year ago for a time be noted to be the most unusually interesting case was reported to the police a day or two ago. For the officers have been working on it ever that time. Last night however they decided that there was no use for them to suspect an attempt crime.

A woman whose name is withheld brought a vial to the police containing a liquid which she said was poison and asked the department to investigate the matter.

The woman said that she was convinced that some one was trying to poison her by a slow method and that she had found the vial containing the poison on the top of her trunk. She said that it contained poison and that her sister had put it on her trunk in the hope that she would drink it and die. She said that when a drop of the liquid fell on her hand it burned like fire and made her headache and that she thought it contained arsenic.

Detective Atkinson was given the case and he immediately took the liquid to the food inspector to have it tested. He also inquired into the affairs of the woman who had left the vial at the station and found that she is a confirmed morphine fiend. Her husband is a laborer in the city. Last night the food inspector reported that he had found no poisons of any kind in the liquid and that it was composed mostly of sugar.

The police believe that the woman dreamed or imagined that she was being poisoned and that the dream was due to her condition from taking morphine. She stuck to her convictions however and in order to have no more trouble about the matter the department advised her to move to some other locality which she did.

Much Sickness Among Stage People

The theatrical season now nearing its end has been remarkable for sickness and death among actors and actresses. Still it seems clear last night. Mr. Dean is the personal representative of Hitchcock and company, New York managers.

This season has been the most fatal to the profession of the stage as regards the mortality among players. This is due likely to the prevalence of la grippe. The strength of the very nature of their work traveling as they do from pillar to post and encountering many times the four seasons of the year within the space of one month, renders susceptible to an epidemic like la grippe than almost any other class of people and in this connection it is said that the dressing rooms of the average theater, hall, big and little alike are responsible for much of the serious illness now prevailing in the profession. To enumerate a list of those who have fallen victims to the grippe during this season would take too long. Roland Hogle's last illness which resulted in his death a few days ago was brought on from this source. Olga Netherson, who was obliged to close her season in several weeks ago and has taken to London for an operation received her injury from a fall on a crickets pitfall stairs leading to her dressing room. F. H. Sothern remained in a Baltimore hospital for two months early in the season. James K. Hackett was ill in St. Louis that he was obliged to retire for the remainder of the season. Mme. Burnhardt disappointed two immense audiences in Pittsburg on account of a grippe. Mme. Melba, Mme. Sembrich and Jean De Reske are similar sufferers and have by their absence from the opera kept the prospects for the spring season of grand opera in New York. Mr. Davenport was at death's door for several weeks but Sidney Rosell, is recuperating in Florida being obliged to cancel his entire season. George Cayvan, one of the distinguished actresses of the company, is in a sanitarium. Maurice Barrymore is in a dead house.

Every theater in New York City has been obliged to substitute understudies on account of the ravishes of la grippe. The profession in a body should protest loud and long against the neglect for ordinary comforts in the dressing rooms.

Mr. Dean, who stopped at the Alamo is here in the interest of Sag Harbor. He goes to play which is to be produced at the Opera house next Tuesday night. This will be the first appearance here of Mr. Herne's two beautiful guard daughters. Mr. Julian Miss Chrystal Anoth is with an in the company is Miss Esther Herne, daughter of the late Rear Admiral Skerrett. She was born in Japan and speaks chinese and Japanese.

Powers Says He Will Erect Plant at Once

This country is just in its infancy and is one of the most profitable fields for investment that I know of, said Alderman Johns, Powers of Kansas City last night at the Alamo. Mr. Powers has just settled his suit of the Pikes Peak Power company with the city of Colorado Springs and in his jubilation he was throwing bouquets at everybody and everything for a eulogy—none other such was the of paradise, he said.

"We shall begin work on our plant very soon and although we only expect to furnish light for Manitou, the Canon, Cripple Creek and Gillette we may extend our field of utility later on.

The distance between Manitou and Cripple Creek that is the route we will follow is only seven or eight miles so the enterprise not quite such large proportions as one might suppose. There are almost unlimited opportunities for developing this section of the country along the lines of utilitarian improvements of this nature for I know of no country that has such splendid resources that are so lightly developed.

The last time that I was here was three years ago and I place at that time Colorado Springs has grown wonderfully. You now have fine large dwellings and your business blocks, such as the Antlers and the Mining Exchange, would do credit to any city. I am more favorably impressed with Colorado than ever before and were I not so head over heels in business in Chicago I would come out here to live. But I shall at any rate spend at least three or four months out here every year from now on and I will probably bring my family out here during that time.

Sam Strong Case On Trial in Arapahoe

The now famous Sam Strong damage case is on trial in Denver before Judge Palmer in the district court of Arapahoe county.

The charges in the case will be remembered by Colorado Springs people to whom they are well known. Strong is Strong mine with having instigated the burning of the saloon of that property during the famous Bull Hill war of 1894. Three miners have served terms in the penitentiary for this crime and the flame of the feud against Strong some time ago created quite a sensation in Colorado City and throughout the Cripple Creek district. The result of Mr. Strong's suit for damages against the city of Colorado Springs and its officers for illegal arrest. Denver on a change of venue from this county. Damages in the sum of $50,000 are asked.

The case was called yesterday morning in Denver and the entire day was occupied in the selection of the jury. When night came the task had not been completed. Attorney George W. Allen of the plaintiff questioned each juror very searchingly. It is said that it will take practically all of today to complete the jury. About sixty witnesses have been summoned, the chief one being John Allen, one whose deposition the suit was brought. A whole carload of Colorado Springs and Teller county people arrived in Denver yesterday morning to attend the trial. The suit is brought by William Lennox, Edward W. Giddings, F. A. Cobb, N. B. Scott of Wheeling, W. Va., and Mrs. Dell Kearney of New Mexico. The plaintiffs are represented in the trial by George W. Allen, Judge J. C. Helm, W. L. Dixon and J. W. Scopes. Strong is represented by John Waldron, Frank C. Goth and A. Martin. The trial promises to be one of the most interesting that has been held in Denver in a long time.

TWO DIVORCES IN THE LOCAL COURTS

Mrs. Minnie E. Livesay told a jury in the county court yesterday a pitiful story of the brutal treatment she received at the hands of her husband before he deserted her some time ago. She sought divorce and the custody of their only child, a boy 9 years old, and was granted both.

The woman swore that her husband frequently came home drunk and beat her. On last Feb. 10 she said he knocked her down and threatened to kill her with a chair.

Judge Hubbard signed the divorce decree and ordered that Livesay contribute to the support of the little boy.

A divorce suit was filed by Mrs. Lilla Andrews against her husband, Thomas. The complaint states that the couple did not live together more than a month after their marriage in August 1899. Desertion is given as the cause for divorce.

A stipulation was filed in the case of the Colorado Trading and Transfer company vs. the Newton Lumber company asking dismissal the defendant to pay the costs.

In the district court Riedel Torrey & co. filed a suit against Mrs. Grace C. Rice for $150.

A stipulation was filed in the case of Lisle vs. Harris asking for dismissal. Judge Hubbard heard the following cases in the county court:

Dalton vs. Manuel, judgment for the plaintiff, who was represented by W. M. Swift.

Becher vs. Hilger et al., default taken for plaintiff.

Freeman vs. Freeman, court set aside previous order dismissing the case and set the trial for the present term.

Justice of the Peace Ruby set dates for trials in the following cases yesterday:

Newton Lumber Company vs. George H. Iles for $200, April 29.

Same plaintiff vs. J. T. Hamlin $84, April 30.

Same plaintiff vs. A. Miller, $102, April 30.

C. H. Aldermann vs. Robert Cochran $100, April 29.

In the case of Ross vs. More judgment was given for $21 for the plaintiff.

The fact that results in purchasing photographs of Colorado Scenery are beginning to ask when they can find the same on them. Are they Stevens views? shows that Stevens views are the standard in points of artistic selection of subject, workmanlike finish and general excellence.

BIG STRIKE ON GOLD HILL

Lessees on Queen Lode of Ben Hur Company Have Two foot Body of Ore With a Bonanza Streak--Four foot Ore Body in Pharmacist.

Special to the Gazette.

Colorado Springs, April 23. Special. Word came to Colorado Springs late last night that the lessees in the Queen lode of the Ben Hur company have struck one of the greatest strikes ever made on Gold hill. Leasers operating from the Good Will tunnel have struck a two foot body of ore which gives assays from six ounces to eleven ounces in gold across the entire face, with an average assay of $110 from a high grade streak. Another assay from the rich streak returned $300 per ton. This lessee was a picked man and has kept this strike quiet for a short time. The strike is the two feet from the foot wall of the vein. It is the one in between the two walls that gives the above assays. The vein which is being worked to be the Midget.

A cross cut south was cut by the lessees in the tunnel at a depth of eight feet, drifting east for a distance of 15 feet, when the rich streak was struck. The Midget vein has probably produced more gold than any other vein on Gold hill, but the peculiar feature of the vein is that it turns back. Whether the new strike is a break or a fissure of the Midget, or the Queen, the lessees are not certain, but they have cut up to expert and show the strike. The strike has not been prospected or been found. The lessees have decided to be in a position to handle the shoot in the Harrison tunnel, which is about 60 feet below the Little King level, 200 feet above the tunnel level.

A Pharmacist Strike

A special from Cripple Creek says: The main vein in Gold hill has at last been found to be important discovery in a vein which has been exposed for so long that it has almost been forgotten. In the 100 foot level the vein has been found to be four feet wide, with a four foot body of ore which averages $40 to the ton. The vein is a quartz and which was intersected in running the drift for the Burns Pharmacist level by a firm of operators. The lessees will have a profitable development work, both above and below the surface of the new strike.

Lessee Worcester, working the Mc... of the Central Consolidated company on Bull hill, has at last got the ore in the 50 foot level in shape to ship. The mineral runs low and there is no well defined body of it, although it has a trend east and west. A shipment of two tons of $70 ore will be closed tomorrow. The lessee has been prospecting the workings for the past month and has just commenced active work.

Mills & La Barge, operating the Happy Year of the Central company, just down the hill from Worcester's lease, have also cut a fine vein of ... in the tunnel for over ... The lessees are working on a good sized body of ... mineral in the tunnel.

Gold Bond Shaft.

The shaft which is being sunk on block 5 of the Gold Bond company's property has reached a depth of 100 feet. A station will be cut at the 200 foot depth and a level will be run at the 300 foot depth as soon as the station is completed. The station will be put down to the 300 foot point as soon as possible.

On block 8 of the Gold Bond property ... tons of ore ready to go out. The ore is expected to run between one and two ounces. The lessee is contemplating sinking a new shaft to connect with the workings at the 200 foot depth.

Assays of $60 per ton are being obtained from the vein on which the Red Cross company is working in the bottom of the shaft of their Gold hill property. The ore body from which these assays come is about two feet in width.

VALUABLE EDITION OF THE MINING INVESTOR

Which Should Do Much Good in Advertising Leadville and Cripple Creek--Is to Be Published on Monday Next

On the 6th inst. the Mining Investor of this city is to issue an elaborate edition, with Mr. Charles J. Moore's lecture on Cripple Creek and Leadville fully illustrated as the especial feature. The lecture is the one recently delivered before the Colorado College of this city. The illustrations include a map showing sections of the Cripple Creek and Leadville camps and several full page drawings illustrating the mining in form to be all engraved from the original drawings made by Mr. Moore.

The edition will be limited to 500 copies and will be almost entirely circulated in the east, where it will do a great deal of good in advertising Colorado. Mr. Moore is a graduate of Yale and a thoroughly informed mining engineer, and these two articles are probably more important than anything which has so far contributed to the mighty literature of the state. They are by no means boom write ups, but the statement of actual facts, and it is upon the statement of such facts by a high authority that the eastern investor very largely establishes his opinion of a mining district.

The entire paper, which has in addition to this feature many interesting departments, should attract much notice to and it is to be hoped that a copy of the paper may fall into the hands of some of those who have been coining money in Wall street. Those who have recently returned from the east have said that money is so free that it is only waiting for an investment ... willing to satisfy this longing and such publications as this edition of the Investor should work inestimable good in turning the attention of capitalists to Colorado resources.

COLUMBIA RETURNS RUN $127.50

Returns From the Latest Carload Indicate This Value--Sinking Progressing Rapidly for New Level

Returns received on the latest shipment of 12 tons from the property of the Cripple Creek Columbia company gave values of $127.50 in gold to the ton. Another shipment is now almost ready to go out, although the lessees are not ... the production as the hoist is from the ... tram ... to the shaft for another hoist is not forthcoming to be erected. The winze is now down over 70 feet. It is the ore is richer in the bottom than it has been at any time. It will be our ... to keep a sharp look for striking rich ore when ... the new level is run 50 feet below the present level or at a depth of 470 feet.

Sinking in the shaft is being pushed rapidly, and the new station is expected to be cut within three weeks. It will take about 10 days to drift out to the ... shoot. In addition to this work on the Columbia has been sunk there is a very large vein along the line between the Columbia and Kimberly. It has prospected some good ore from the 240 foot level, but it is evident that the top of the shaft has been cut off and that greater depth will be required before the shoot will be reached.

FANNY ORE RUNS $178 NET

According to the Latest Assay--Ore Proved Up 30 Feet Wide 40 Feet Long and 14 Feet Wide With No Limit in Sight

President J. ... Hinchcliff of the Fanny Mining company returned yesterday from Leadville and reported that the strike is assuming very important proportions.

The ... and Mr. Hinchcliff ... originally struck in ... raise 20 feet above the main level ... has been run from the level ... the ore has consequently been ... 20 feet long on the point where it was first cut. The values at this depth are better than they were above, as ... just taken, having given the following results: ... ounces in gold, 14 ounces in silver, 2.5 per cent lead, 30 per cent excess iron and 4 per cent copper. This would mean that the net ... to about $178.

The ore has been proven 5 feet high, 40 feet long between 12 and 14 feet wide, and no limit has been reached in any direction. A shipment was made yesterday, and it is estimated that there is $500 worth of ore in the bins and $400 more already in sight in the mine. The ... are being hoisted every day, and shipments will now be sent out regularly. The present output is being made by a small force, only two men being employed in breaking ore. But a larger force will be put to work to-day, and it will be increased further just as rapidly as room is made for the miners to work.

REPORTED STRIKE IN BEN HUR

A report credits a good strike to Rosh A. Stewart, leasing on the Ben Hur property through the Good Will tunnel, but this could not be confirmed at the offices of the company in this city yesterday as no information concerning it had been received from camp. It is known however that the lessees were working in very good indications of ore and expecting to open an ore shoot at any time. A ... buying agent from Cripple Creek was expected to call at brokers' yesterday morning but could not be found. The stock advanced on extremely light trading, closing at 10.

It is said that an eight foot vein has been opened which carries a good streak of smelting ore and a smaller one of rock carrying a generous amount of free gold. But no authoritative information is at hand.

MINING NEWS FROM DEADWOOD

(Special Correspondence.)

Deadwood, S. D., April 20.—At Rapid City the Spearfish Mining company of Colorado Springs, Colo., is mining and milling ore for about $13.50 per ton. This is without doubt the lowest cost of any other company in the Black Hills with the possible exception of the Homestake company. The ore is found in a flat shoot about twenty feet thick and several hundred feet in width. One shot breaks enough ore down to last one to two days. The ore is loaded into wagons and hauled a short distance to the 200 ton cyanide plant. There are a number of shoots of ore running parallel through this company's ground which give an unlimited supply of ore. The company is making regular clean ups each month. The gold bricks are sent by express to Colorado Springs to the company's office. For a few days each brick is exhibited in the windows of one of the banks of that place and this great advertising has done much toward getting other Colorado people interested in the Black Hills.

New mining companies are being organized at a rapid rate in the Black Hills, the average being about three per week since the first of the year. There is not a single fake mining company in the hills at the present time. All of the companies are making their stock non assessable. The owners of the Wasp No. 2 mine in the Yellow Creek district have organized a strong company. A 50 ton cyanide plant is being operated successfully at the mine.

There is to be a summer class in chemistry at the State School of Mines at Rapid City. The school is being well patronized by young men from the camps and towns of the Hills. A good many old prospectors who have spent years in practical work among the mountains, are taking the shorter courses.

The Cleopatra company is putting in a few repairs at the 100 ton cyanide plant at the Cleopatra mine in the ... Creek district. It is the first shut down since the mill started six months ago.

MINING NOTES AROUND TOWN

The Denver Times commenting editorially on the interview with John W. Prodgit published in these columns last week, commends his views of the market and the remedies which he brought forth for the present weakness of the market. The editorial in question went on to say that the mining stocks are selling below the real values of the properties which they represent, and that the face of so many good companies being burdened with great capitalizations prejudices the people against investment. It recommends that the companies in Cripple Creek should consult with others and endeavor to reduce the capitalization so that the stock instead of going begging at a few cents a share will represent a cash value that will induce investment. The sentiment in mining circles is very much in accord with this. Every one is tired of the high capitalization and the many new flotations, but it would seem as if nearly every one in the mining business were responsible for at least one new flotation or for a company with an increased capitalization. And when the market proves there is no assurance that it will not again be fed to satiety on more new flotations bringing on a second attack of the dyspeptic condition from which it is now suffering.

H. C. GODDARD OF CHICAGO HERE TODAY

Mr. H. C. Goddard of Chicago well known in local mining circles was here this morning in the interests of his different mining properties. He is quite extensively interested in Cripple Creek and intends to visit this camp tomorrow. He reports that there is not much interest taken in Cripple Creek in Chicago, but anticipates that the camp is going to attract wide attention in the near future.

MEETING OF THE REQUA SAVAGE COMPANY

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Requa Savage company has just been held at which the following directors were elected: Frank Finegan, R. M. Taylor, L. Hill Johnson, John Peterson and T. C. Harrison. The report stated to the meeting stated that the property of the company—which is located on Beacon hill adjoining the Model, Mand St. Thomas is leased until August 31 and that the lessees have now attained a depth of 300 feet from the surface and are going to the 400 foot point before starting any lateral work. It is thought that the main bodies of ore will be opened on the property. After the stockholders had adjourned the new directors met and elected the following officers: President, Frank Finegan; vice president, John Peterson and secretary, R. B. Taylor.

ORE FROM JEFF DAVIS RUNNING $40 PER TON

Dr. Whiting and associates who are leasing on the Jeff Davis claim of the Lexington company are in the ore at a depth of 300 feet from the surface and have just received returns from a shipment of 20 tons recently sent out from the mine. The ore returned values of $40 in gold to the ton which seems to be about the average grade of the shoot at this depth. The ore in the bottom level however is only coming from development work. The upper workings are still producing some ore.

THE AJAX MINE IS PRODUCING $60,000 A MONTH

The Ajax mine on Battle mountain is making a production of about 1,000 tons a month which is averaging $40 in gold to the ton. The output has increased to such an extent that new ore bins were recently started and are now being pushed to completion and four new tables are also under construction. The shaft on this mine is down considerably over 800 feet at the present time and sinking is vigorously in progress.

PROVING UP THE INDEPENDENCE SHOOT

Drifting is in progress in the ore shoot recently opened in the 900 foot level of the Stratton's Independence mine and the values have been found entirely as high at this depth as they were above and the ore averages a very good width. Manager Shipman feels entirely satisfied with the development so far as it has been carried on and anticipates the same rich ore to be opened in the 1,000 foot level. So far as this Cripple Creek mine is concerned the developments at depth have certainly only corroborated the theories that the rich ore exists as abundantly below as it does above.

THE COLORADO SPRINGS MINING STOCK EXCHANGE

Colorado Springs, April 23.—The market today was a little more active and prices held their own fairly well, but there is still a conspicuous absence of buying orders, and in the few stocks which have scored fractional advances there seems to be a strong disposition to make sure of profits, because the faith in a sustained strength is weak. Trading in the mines list was light, but there was a tendency toward firmness, although no evidence of any buying orders coming in for any class of stocks.

The market upon the afternoon call was light in point of trading, while prices remained generally unchanged. Trading in the mines was very light. Argentum-Juniata was 26¾. Elkton was a light trader at $1.62. Gold Dollar showed some strength at 18¼. Isabella was weaker at 65. Pointer closed at 15¼, buyer 30. In the prospects traders was better; Exploration sold at 8¾, Eclipse 5¾, New Haven 7¾, Pythias 3½, Aola 3¾, Leon Cons. 1¾, Magic was active at $5 per 1,000, Navajo was also active at 1½, Quito closed at 2¾. The unclassified department as compared with the morning call was lighter. Detroit was the most active, opening at 3¾ and closing at 3½, Acacia was 12½, Ben Hur 10½, Blanche 4½, Gold Sovereign 6¾, buyer 30, National 4¾, Trenton 1¾, Zoe 1¾, closing at 4½.

The total amount of sales for the day were 441,325 shares, of which the cash value was $62,722.

TIME WAS UP

It was Quit Coffee or Die

When a woman is brought to the edge of the grave by poisoning from the drinking of ordinary coffee day by day and is then made a well woman by leaving it off her experience is worth something to others that suffered in various ways from the same habit

Mrs Jeannette B Crowe 100 Mill St New Haven Conn says Four years ago my life hung by a very slender thread with heart and kidney and heart trouble and a very severe form of rheumatism I was confined to bed with hands wrists feet and ankles so badly swollen that they bore no resemblance to parts of the human body I had frequent sinking spells from heart weakness when I was thought to be dying and sometimes thought to be dead My doctor one of the directors of the state hospital A very successful man of his profession told me to stop drinking coffee and use Postum Food Coffee as he said coffee was the primary cause of my trouble

I took his advice at once and discontinued medicine Slowly the swelling disappeared and the rheumatism left me the sinking spells became less frequent and I got out of bed and around the house I was completely cured but it required some time

For the past three years I have been a perfectly strong healthy woman, sleep well with good appetite good color and strong and energetic

It is a great pleasure to testify to Postum that has made me a well woman again I have many friends here and in other parts of the state who are using Postum Food Coffee formerly, and I know to their very great benefit.

Boulder Colo April 23—Mrs Cora O D Ellison Miss Bailey and a sister of the [illegible] was the principal witness in the Bailey murder trial today [illegible] She testified that she was at her home [illegible] and that they had threatened to kill her brothers if they did not keep away She [illegible] that the same [illegible] of the men when she was leaving the [illegible] and told her not to tell her brothers that they had been [illegible] the [illegible] brothers this but she refused to go and talk to the men

Mrs O D Ellison testified that the [illegible] referred to above [illegible] anyone from the house but to the [illegible] began [illegible] and she was allowed to take her brothers with her

Mrs O D Ellison [illegible] taken in her testimony

The defense attempted to prove that the Bailey brothers wished to see [illegible] their [illegible] for the purpose of the shooting

The defense in James Leech was called upon the witness stand the first thing this afternoon [illegible] direct testimony was for the purpose of proving an alibi He stated that he [illegible] at John Rowell's McLean at Higgins saloon and took a drink with them while the shooting was going on

D Bailey owe you anything [illegible] there [illegible] between you and Mr Bailey at this time asked Attorney Patton on cross examination

No sir was the reply

I now wish to ask a question which will impeach the testimony of the witness [illegible] the prosecuting attorney Were you not present and did you not participate in a meeting at Higgins saloon which was for the purpose of effecting an agreement between Mr Bailey and the men who had worked in the Erie prison

The question was objected to on the ground that it had nothing to do with the direct testimony of the witness and the objection was sustained

Mrs Grandma Sagadahe testified that she was standing in front of her house on the evening of November 1 and saw both defendants Leech and Wise while the shooting was going on [illegible] in Dunbar's stage driver running between Boulder and Eldora was waiting to hire a team at the livery stable when he heard the shots He immediately went over to Higgins saloon and called attention to the fact that shooting was going on At the time came to in front [illegible] came [illegible]

Charles Parson an albino man was next called He corroborated the last witness statements adding that West was also at the saloon during the fray Other witnesses followed who testified [illegible] that others had said in regard to James Leech and Albert West being seen at various places in the town during the time of the excitement The fact that almost every witness told a straightforward story and was unshaken in the cross examination told strongly to the benefit of the defendants James Leech and Albert West were not implicated in the killing of M D Rainey and that they have clearly established an alibi

The Story of an Aching Tooth

This is the story that could be truthfully told by hundreds from personal experience A sad story of sleepless nights and days made miserable by decayed and diseased teeth—a condition that is unnecessary with the beginning of the nineteenth century The science of dentistry has reached that stage of perfection where it is possible to put you teeth in perfect order no matter what may be their present condition

We understand that a visit is not the most enjoyable thing in the world to contemplate but the necessity is to be to occur a few times in everyone's life better the dentist the fewer the times—and we do our level best to make it as pleasant and the work as easy and satisfactory as can be

Then as to price

We have built up the largest dental practice in the West Our little prices for the best work have been a very important help in doing this But it is truly the large practice that makes the little prices possible and profitable

Little profits and lots of them

Our time is all employed so that we can divide a fair profit to them and new patients instead of a few—charging each only what the work they secure is actually worth according to the actual cost of producing it

That is the whole story

Just as we guarantee to every particular the higher grade of quality in our work—so we guarantee that our prices will always be the lowest possible for work as good as dental work can and should be Open Sundays from 9 a m to 12 m
